

DIRECTORY.

TOWN OFFICERS:
 MAYOR—R. H. Hubbard.
 TREASURER—J. E. Royal.
 CHIEF OF POLICE—W. J. King.
 JAILOR—Capt. Joe. H. Robinson.
 COMMISSIONERS—R. H. Hubbard, J. E. Royal, W. B. Stewart, J. B.
 Bodenhammer, W. H. Stetson.
COUNTY OFFICERS:
 SHERIFF—J. M. Spill.
 CLERK OF SUPERIOR COURT—J.
 S. Bizzell.
 TREASURER—J. R. Beaman.
 REGISTER OF DEEDS—O. F. Herring.
 COUNTY SURVEYOR—Arthur Lee.
 CORONER—Dr. A. T. Cooper.
 BOARD OF EDUCATION—Maj. W.
 N. Patterson, A. R. Herring and
 W. B. Stewart.
 COMMISSIONERS—Captain C. Par-trick, J. C. Hobbs, J. M. Marshall.
 SUPERINTENDENT OF HEALTH
 FOR COUNTY—Dr. J. A. Stevens.
 STANDARD KEEPER—W. K. Beaman.
 SUPERINTENDENT OF COUNTY
 FARM—James Shipp.
 Supt. Pub. Instruction—Isiah
 Royal.
PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR—None.
POST OFFICE:
 (C. P. Johnson, Postmaster.) Mail going by rail leaves postoffice daily at 7:45 A. M., and 2:55 P. M., respectively. Mail going via Holton, Newton Grove, Dunn, Beaman's Road, etc., leaves 6:30 A. M., on Mondays and Thursdays. Mail going to Fayetteville, via Huntley, Blocker's, etc., leaves at 6:00 A. M., on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

CHURCHES.
 Baptist—Pastor, J. L. Stewart; Services, 3d Sabbath of each month. Prayer meeting Tuesday at 7 P. M. Sunday school, Sunday, 9 A. M.
 Presbyterian—Pastor, Dr. B. F.
 Marable; Services, 2nd and 4th Sundays. Prayer meeting, Wednesday at 7 P. M. Sunday school, 9 A. M.
 Methodist—Pastors, C. P. Jerome Services, (at Presbyterian and Baptist) 1st Sunday 11 A. M. and 7 P. M.
 Sunday school (in Lodge) every Sunday at 9 A. M. Prayer meeting (at Presbyterian church) Thursday nights at 7 P. M.
 Episcopal—Rector, J. W. Turner.
 Services, Sunday, 11 A. M. and 4:30 P. M. Sunday school, 3 P. M.
 Colored Baptist—Second Sunday in each month at 11 A. M., 3 P. M. and 7 P. M.

MISCELLANEOUS:
 Library of Clinton Literary Association over postoffice. Librarian, W. S. Thomson.
 Clinton Loan Association—President, J. L. Stewart; Cashier, A. F.
 Johnson.
 Railroad Depot—Agent, H. B.
 Chesnut. Telegraph Operator—J. C.
 Holmes.
 Y. M. C. A.—F. R. Cooper, President. Meets in Courthouse every Friday at 7 P. M.

PROFESSIONAL COLUMN.

J. A. STEVENSON, M. D.
 PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,
 (Office over Post Office.)

May be found at night at the residence of J. H. Stevens on College Street. je 7-1yr

A. M. LEE, M. D.
 PHYSICIAN, SURGEON AND DENTIST,
 Office in Lee's Drug Store. je 7-1yr

H. E. FAISON,
 ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR-
 AT-LAW,
 Office on Main Street.

Will practice in courts of Sampson and adjoining counties. Also in Supreme Court. All business entrusted to his care will receive prompt and careful attention. je 7-1yr

D. W. KERR,
 ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR-
 AT-LAW,
 Office on Wall Street.

Will practice in Sampson, Bladen, Pender, Harnett and Duplin Counties. Also in Supreme Court.
 Prompt personal attention will be given to all legal business. je 7-1yr

FRANK BOYETTE, D.D.S.
 DENTISTRY
 Office on Main Street.

Offers his services to the people of Clinton and vicinity. Everything in the line of Dentistry done in the best style. Satisfaction guaranteed.
 je 7-1yr

W. S. THOMSON,
 ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR-
 AT-LAW,
 Office over Post Office.

Will practice in Sampson and adjoining counties. Ever attention and faithful to the interests of all clients. je 7-1yr

STEWART, NICHOLSON & COOPER,
 Attorneys and Counselors at Law
 will practice in Sampson and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of the State. All business entrusted to us will receive prompt and faithful attention. Office over Stewart & Hines' store. feb 1-1yr

For 22 Years
J. T. GREGORY
 has occupied his same TAILOR ESTABLISHMENT
 on Church Street. The great and original leader in low prices for men's clothes. Economy in cloth and money will force you to give him a call.
 Latest Fashion plates always on hand. June 7th, 1yr.

NEW BARBER SHOP.
 When you wish an easy shave,
 As good as barber ever gave,
 Just call on me at my saloon At morning, eve or noon;
 I cut and dress the hair with grace,
 To suit the contour of the face.
 My room is neat and towels clean, Scissors sharp and razors keen.
 And everything I think you'll find;
 To suit the face and please the mind,
 And all my art and skill can do If you just call, I'll do for you.
 PAUL SHEPARD,
 The Clinton Barber.

We want our old subscribers to remain with us even more than we want new friends. Keep up your subscription to THE CAUCASIAN.

Give us 3,000 subscribers and we will give you a paper of which you will be more proud.

Do you not take an interest in the development and progress of Sampion county? THE CAUCASIAN is laboring for that very purpose.

When you don't feel well and hardly know what ails you, give B.
 B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) a trial.
 It is a fine tonic.
 T. O. Callahan, Charlotte, N. C., writes: "B. B. B. is a fine tonic, and has done me great good." L. W. Thompson, Damascus, Ga., writes: "I believe B. B. B. is the best blood purifier made. I have greatly improved my general health." Ad old gentleman writes: "B. B. B. gives me new life and new strength.
 If there is anything that will make an old man young it is B. B. B." P. A. Shepherd, Norfolk, Va., August 10th, 1888, writes: "I depend on B. B. B. for the preservation of my health. I have had it in my family now nearly two years, and in all that time have not had to have a doctor."
 Thos. Paulk, Alapaha, Ga., writes:
 "I suffered terribly from dyspepsia.
 The use of B. B. B. has made me feel like a new man. I would not take a thousand dollars for the good it has done me."
 W. M. Bleshere, Atlanta, Georgia, writes: "I had a long spell of Typhoid Fever, which at last seemed to settle in my right leg, which swelled up enormously. An uncerased appeared which discharged a full of matter a day. I then gave B.
 B. B. a trial and it cured me."

Let us make THE CAUCASIAN one of the best weeklies in North Carolina. With help it can be so.

CLINTON, N. C.,—MAR. 21, 1889.
 (Continued from 1st Page.)

onset of tropic beauty. Arctic moss adds finish to the rose and
 lily; and Alaska meets wants of the world that no other land can satisfy. This great truth seems to be the native instinct of the human soul.

Then he who unites the vocations of man for the better: condition of all, is equally as great as Caesar.

But amid all the confusions
 of the age, the voice of sincerity
 is rising higher and higher;
 still; the concordant voice of men and women is rising in the interest of human life. This may seem fanciful, nevertheless it bears the ineffaceable stamp of truth. We have viewed the subject as broad as the world, but we are of America and of its sunny side. We are basking in the sunshine of an era of peace and plenty. The chaos of strife between the sections
 of our country is all early bridg-
 ed. The axe is laid at the root of the tree of bitter fruits. The spirit of our institutions of learning is a testimonial of this assertion. The spirit of the age in the New South is what most vitally concerns us.

The Southern interest at the
 numerous State and County Expositions has proclaimed to the world what we have and what we can do. But bright as our morning opens, and high as our hopes beat, too many of our people are content to boast of our great possibilities and resources, and yet do nothing. Too many of our educated young men admit of our possibilities, proclaim from the house-top
 our shortcomings, then leave the country for better pay. Let those who see and feel the sting
 of our errors strive to apply the
 remedy, or when and how will it be done? It must be done through the influence of Southern universities and colleges. It was largely through the Universities of Cambridge and Oxford
 that centuries ago three dialects
 were blended into one beautiful union, that authors wrote, that poets sung.

These institutions are the
 lights that have guided the wandering i-lander across the waters on his way to eternal greatness. So our institutions must unfold to us our own possibilities. The demands of the age are upon them, or they must be hidden in their own ruins.
 Young men of high aspirations,
 a question comes to you: will
 you meet the demands upon you
 and guide your own institution in the coming years, or must others be called to the rescue?
 Must you fold your hands and lament our barrenness, while
 your own muse is sleeping amid the boughs of the overgrown that weeps because no poet sings its song? Within our own dominions talent and genuine enough have been wasted
 in lament and sighs and mournful declarations, to have built a structure that would have been the wonder of the ages.
 Let him who knows our difficulties, our needs and our wants, contribute to their supply, or may his tongue be chained in silence. If you as a southern scholar feel our need of history and know the defects of our own, you had better write one than spend your life telling us what we don't have. As our needs and resources are great,
 our possibilities are correspondingly great. You long to revel in the proud temple of fame, has she no abiding place within our borders?

Do you long for a land where herds are more thriving and grass grows higher? Unless you strive to develop the resources of your own, the rankest grass would soon flourish about you, and Eden's flowers would wither in your sight. Let us work to develop the resources of our country, and have cause to name with honest pride the land which gave us birth.

DEE JAY.

THE CAUCASIAN.

CLINTON, N. C.,—MAR. 21, 1889.
 (Continued from 1st Page.)

onset of tropic beauty. Arctic
 moss adds finish to the rose and
 lily; and Alaska meets wants of
 the world that no other land can
 satisfy. This great truth seems to
 be the native instinct of the
 human soul.

Then he who unites the voca-
 tions of man for the better: condition of all, is equally as great as
 Caesar.

But amid all the confusions
 of the age, the voice of sincerity
 is rising higher and higher;
 still; the concordant voice of
 men and women is rising in the
 interest of human life. This may
 seem fanciful, nevertheless it
 bears the ineffaceable stamp of
 truth. We have viewed the
 subject as broad as the world,
 but we are of America and of
 its sunny side. We are basking
 in the sunshine of an era of
 peace and plenty. The chaos
 of strife between the sections
 of our country is all early bridg-
 ed. The axe is laid at the root
 of the tree of bitter fruits. The
 spirit of our institutions of
 learning is a testimonial of this
 assertion. The spirit of the age
 in the New South is what most
 vitally concerns us.

The Southern interest at the
 numerous State and County Ex-
 positions has proclaimed to the
 world what we have and what
 we can do. But bright as our
 morning opens, and high as our
 hopes beat, too many of our
 people are content to boast of
 our great possibilities and resources, and yet do nothing. Too
 many of our educated young
 men admit of our possibilities,
 proclaim from the house-top
 our shortcomings, then leave
 the country for better pay. Let
 those who see and feel the sting
 of our errors strive to apply the
 remedy, or when and how will
 it be done? It must be done
 through the influence of South-
 ern universities and colleges. It
 was largely through the Univer-
 sities of Cambridge and Oxford
 that centuries ago three dialects
 were blended into one beautiful
 union, that authors wrote, that
 poets sung.

These institutions are the
 lights that have guided the
 wandering i-lander across the
 waters on his way to eternal
 greatness. So our institutions
 must unfold to us our own pos-
 sibilities. The demands of the
 age are upon them, or they must
 be hidden in their own ruins.
 Young men of high aspirations,
 a question comes to you: will
 you meet the demands upon you
 and guide your own institution
 in the coming years, or must
 others be called to the rescue?
 Must you fold your hands and
 lament our barrenness, while
 your own muse is sleeping
 amid the boughs of the over-
 grown that weeps because no
 poet sings its song? Within our
 own dominions talent and genuine enough have been wasted
 in lament and sighs and mourn-
 ful declarations, to have built
 a structure that would have
 been the wonder of the ages.
 Let him who knows our difficulties, our needs and our wants,
 contribute to their supply, or
 may his tongue be chained in
 silence. If you as a southern
 scholar feel our need of history
 and know the defects of our
 own, you had better write one
 than spend your life telling us
 what we don't have. As our
 needs and resources are great,
 our possibilities are correspond-
 ingly great. You long to revel
 in the proud temple of fame,
 has she no abiding place within
 our borders?

Do you long for a land where
 herds are more thriving and
 grass grows higher? Unless you
 strive to develop the resources
 of your own, the rankest grass
 would soon flourish about you,
 and Eden's flowers would with-
 er in your sight. Let us work
 to develop the resources of our
 country, and have cause to name
 with honest pride the land
 which gave us birth.

DEE JAY.

CLINTON, N. C.,—MAR. 21, 1889.
 (Continued from 1st Page.)

onset of tropic beauty. Arctic
 moss adds finish to the rose and
 lily; and Alaska meets wants of
 the world that no other land can
 satisfy. This great truth seems to
 be the native instinct of the
 human soul.

Then he who unites the voca-
 tions of man for the better: condition of all, is equally as great as
 Caesar.

But amid all the confusions
 of the age, the voice of sincerity
 is rising higher and higher;
 still; the concordant voice of
 men and women is rising in the
 interest of human life. This may
 seem fanciful, nevertheless it
 bears the ineffaceable stamp of
 truth. We have viewed the
 subject as broad as the world,
 but we are of America and of
 its sunny side. We are basking
 in the sunshine of an era of
 peace and plenty. The chaos
 of strife between the sections
 of our country is all early bridg-
 ed. The axe is laid at the root
 of the tree of bitter fruits. The
 spirit of our institutions of
 learning is a testimonial of this
 assertion. The spirit of the age
 in the New South is what most
 vitally concerns us.

The Southern interest at the
 numerous State and County Ex-
 positions has proclaimed to the
 world what we have and what
 we can do. But bright as our
 morning opens, and high as our
 hopes beat, too many of our
 people are content to boast of
 our great possibilities and resources, and yet do nothing. Too
 many of our educated young
 men admit of our possibilities,
 proclaim from the house-top
 our shortcomings, then leave
 the country for better pay. Let
 those who see and feel the sting
 of our errors strive to apply the
 remedy, or when and how will
 it be done? It must be done
 through the influence of South-
 ern universities and colleges. It
 was largely through the Univer-
 sities of Cambridge and Oxford
 that centuries ago three dialects
 were blended into one beautiful
 union, that authors wrote, that
 poets sung.

These institutions are the
 lights that have guided the
 wandering i-lander across the
 waters on his way to eternal
 greatness. So our institutions
 must unfold to us our own pos-
 sibilities. The demands of the
 age are upon them, or they must
 be hidden in their own ruins.
 Young men of high aspirations,
 a question comes to you: will
 you meet the demands upon you
 and guide your own institution
 in the coming years, or must
 others be called to the rescue?
 Must you fold your hands and
 lament our barrenness, while
 your own muse is sleeping
 amid the boughs of the over-
 grown that weeps because no
 poet sings its song? Within our
 own dominions talent and genuine enough have been wasted
 in lament and sighs and mourn-
 ful declarations, to have built
 a structure that would have
 been the wonder of the ages.
 Let him who knows our difficulties, our needs and our wants,
 contribute to their supply, or
 may his tongue be chained in
 silence. If you as a southern
 scholar feel our need of history
 and know the defects of our
 own, you had better write one
 than spend your life telling us
 what we don't have. As our
 needs and resources are great,
 our possibilities are correspond-
 ingly great. You long to revel
 in the proud temple of fame,
 has she no abiding place within
 our borders?

Do you long for a land where
 herds are more thriving and
 grass grows higher? Unless you
 strive to develop the resources
 of your own, the rankest grass
 would soon flourish about you,
 and Eden's flowers would with-
 er in your sight. Let us work
 to develop the resources of our
 country, and have cause to name
 with honest pride the land
 which gave us birth.

DEE JAY.

CLINTON, N. C.,—MAR. 21, 1889.
 (Continued from 1st Page.)

onset of tropic beauty. Arctic
 moss adds finish to the rose and
 lily; and Alaska meets wants of
 the world that no other land can
 satisfy. This great truth seems to
 be the native instinct of the
 human soul.

Then he who unites the voca-
 tions of man for the better: condition of all, is equally as great as
 Caesar.

But amid all the confusions
 of the age, the voice of sincerity
 is rising higher and higher;
 still; the concordant voice of
 men and women is rising in the
 interest of human life. This may
 seem fanciful, nevertheless it
 bears the ineffaceable stamp of
 truth. We have viewed the
 subject as broad as the world,
 but we are of America and of
 its sunny side. We are basking
 in the sunshine of an era of
 peace and plenty. The chaos
 of strife between the sections
 of our country is all early bridg-
 ed. The axe is laid at the root
 of the tree of bitter fruits. The
 spirit of our institutions of
 learning is a testimonial of this
 assertion. The spirit of the age
 in the New South is what most
 vitally concerns us.

The Southern interest at the
 numerous State and County Ex-
 positions has proclaimed to the
 world what we have and what
 we can do. But bright as our
 morning opens, and high as our
 hopes beat, too many of our
 people are content to boast of
 our great possibilities and resources, and yet do nothing. Too
 many of our educated young
 men admit of our possibilities,
 proclaim from the house-top
 our shortcomings, then leave
 the country for better pay. Let
 those who see and feel the sting
 of our errors strive to apply the
 remedy, or when and how will
 it be done? It must be done
 through the influence of South-
 ern universities and colleges. It
 was largely through the Univer-
 sities of Cambridge and Oxford
 that centuries ago three dialects
 were blended into one beautiful
 union, that authors wrote, that
 poets sung.

These institutions are the
 lights that have guided the
 wandering i-lander across the
 waters on his way to eternal
 greatness. So our institutions
 must unfold to us our own pos-
 sibilities. The demands of the
 age are upon them, or they must
 be hidden in their own ruins.
 Young men of high aspirations,
 a question comes to you: will
 you meet the demands upon you
 and guide your own institution
 in the coming years, or must
 others be called to the rescue?
 Must you fold your hands and
 lament our barrenness, while
 your own muse is sleeping
 amid the boughs of the over-
 grown that weeps because no
 poet sings its song? Within our
 own dominions talent and genuine enough have been wasted
 in lament and sighs and mourn-
 ful declarations, to have built
 a structure that would have
 been the wonder of the ages.
 Let him who knows our difficulties, our needs and our wants,
 contribute to their supply, or
 may his tongue be chained in
 silence. If you as a southern
 scholar feel our need of history
 and know the defects of our
 own, you had better write one
 than spend your life telling us
 what we don't have. As our
 needs and resources are great,
 our possibilities are correspond-
 ingly great. You long to revel
 in the proud temple of fame,
 has she no abiding place within
 our borders?

Do you long for a land where
 herds are more thriving and
 grass grows higher? Unless you
 strive to develop the resources
 of your own, the rankest grass
 would soon flourish about you,
 and Eden's flowers would with-
 er in your sight. Let us work
 to develop the resources of our
 country, and have cause to name
 with honest pride the land
 which gave us birth.

DEE JAY.

CLINTON, N. C.,—MAR. 21, 1889.
 (Continued from 1st Page.)

onset of tropic beauty. Arctic
 moss adds finish to the rose and
 lily; and Alaska meets wants of
 the world that no other land can
 satisfy. This great truth seems to
 be the native instinct of the
 human soul.

Then he who unites the voca-
 tions of man for the better: condition of all, is equally as great as
 Caesar.

But amid all the confusions
 of the age, the voice of sincerity
 is rising higher and higher;
 still; the concordant voice of
 men and women is rising in the
 interest of human life. This may
 seem fanciful, nevertheless it
 bears the ineffaceable stamp of
 truth. We have viewed the
 subject as broad as the world,
 but we are of America and of
 its sunny side. We are basking
 in the sunshine of an era of
 peace and plenty. The chaos
 of strife between the sections
 of our country is all early bridg-
 ed. The axe is laid at the root
 of the tree of bitter fruits. The
 spirit of our institutions of
 learning is a testimonial of this
 assertion. The spirit of the age
 in the New South is what most
 vitally concerns us.

The Southern interest at the
 numerous State and County Ex-
 positions has proclaimed to the
 world what we have and what
 we can do. But bright as our
 morning opens, and high as our
 hopes beat, too many of our
 people are content to boast of
 our great possibilities and resources, and yet do nothing. Too
 many of our educated young
 men admit of our possibilities,
 proclaim from the house-top
 our shortcomings, then leave
 the country for better pay. Let
 those who see and feel the sting
 of our errors strive to apply the
 remedy, or when and how will
 it be done? It must be done
 through the influence of South-
 ern universities and colleges. It
 was largely through the Univer-
 sities of Cambridge and Oxford
 that centuries ago three dialects
 were blended into one beautiful
 union, that authors wrote, that
 poets sung.

These institutions are the
 lights that have guided the
 wandering i-lander across the
 waters on his way to eternal
 greatness. So our institutions
 must unfold to us our own pos-
 sibilities. The demands of the
 age are upon them, or they must
 be hidden in their own ruins.
 Young men of high aspirations,
 a question comes to you: will
 you meet the demands upon you
 and guide your own institution
 in the coming years, or must
 others be called to the rescue?
 Must you fold your hands and
 lament our barrenness, while
 your own muse is sleeping
 amid the boughs of the over-
 grown that weeps because no
 poet sings its song? Within our
 own dominions talent and genuine enough have been wasted
 in lament and sighs and mourn-
 ful declarations, to have built
 a structure that would have
 been the wonder of the ages.
 Let him who knows our difficulties, our needs and our wants,
 contribute to their supply, or
 may his tongue be chained in
 silence. If you as a southern
 scholar feel our need of history
 and know the defects of our
 own, you had better write one
 than spend your life telling us
 what we don't have. As our
 needs and resources are great,
 our possibilities are correspond-
 ingly great. You long to revel
 in the proud temple of fame,
 has she no abiding place within
 our borders?

Do you long for a land where
 herds are more thriving and
 grass grows higher? Unless you
 strive to develop the resources
 of your own, the rankest grass
 would soon flourish about you,
 and Eden's flowers would with-
 er in your sight. Let us work
 to develop the resources of our
 country, and have cause to name
 with honest pride the land
 which gave us birth.

DEE JAY.

CLINTON, N. C.,—MAR. 21, 1889.
 (Continued from 1st Page.)

onset of tropic beauty. Arctic
 moss adds finish to the rose and
 lily; and Alaska meets wants of
 the world that no other land can
 satisfy. This great truth seems to
 be the native instinct of the
 human soul.

Then he who unites the voca-
 tions of man for the better: condition of all, is equally as great as
 Caesar.

But amid all the confusions
 of the age, the voice of sincerity
 is rising higher and higher;
 still; the concordant voice of
 men and women is rising in the
 interest of human life. This may
 seem fanciful, nevertheless it
 bears the ineffaceable stamp of
 truth. We have viewed the
 subject as broad as the world,
 but we are of America and of
 its sunny side. We are basking
 in the sunshine of an era of
 peace and plenty. The chaos
 of strife between the sections
 of our country is all early bridg-
 ed. The axe is laid at the root
 of the tree of bitter fruits. The
 spirit of our institutions of
 learning is a testimonial of this
 assertion. The spirit of the age
 in the New South is what most
 vitally concerns us.

The Southern interest at the
 numerous State and County Ex-
 positions has proclaimed to the
 world what we have and what
 we can do. But bright as our
 morning opens, and high as our
 hopes beat, too many of our
 people are content to boast of
 our great possibilities and resources, and yet do nothing. Too
 many of our educated young
 men admit of our possibilities,
 proclaim from the house-top
 our shortcomings, then leave
 the country for better pay. Let
 those who see and feel the sting
 of our errors strive to apply the
 remedy, or when and how will
 it be done? It must be done
 through the influence of South-
 ern universities and colleges. It
 was largely through the Univer-
 sities of Cambridge and Oxford
 that centuries ago three dialects
 were blended into one beautiful
 union, that authors wrote, that
 poets sung.

These institutions are the
 lights that have guided the
 wandering i-lander across the
 waters on his way to eternal
 greatness. So our institutions
 must unfold to us our own pos-
 sibilities. The demands of the
 age are upon them, or they must
 be hidden in their own ruins.
 Young men of high aspirations,
 a question comes to you: will
 you meet the demands upon you
 and guide your own institution
 in the coming years, or must
 others be called to the rescue?
 Must you fold your hands and
 lament our barrenness, while
 your own muse is sleeping
 amid the boughs of the over-
 grown that weeps because no
 poet sings its song? Within our
 own dominions talent and genuine enough have been wasted
 in lament and sighs and mourn-
 ful declarations, to have built
 a structure that would have
 been the wonder of the ages.
 Let him who knows our difficulties, our needs and our wants,